Old Testament Seminary Manual

The book of Judges is named for the various rulers, called "judges" (Judges 2:16–19), who are the book's central figures. These judges were generally military leaders and fighters more than preachers of righteousness (see Bible Dictionary, "Judges, the"). The book describes the deeds of many of these leaders, some of whom helped deliver the Israelites from the effects of their sinful behavior.

Old Testament Seminary Manual

Most Bible scholars believe that Judges, along with other historical books in the Old Testament, was compiled in its current form sometime in the late seventh or early sixth century B.C. This doesn't mean it was written for the first time during that period but there are reasons to suppose that various books in the Bible were compiled after the Israelites were conquered by the Assyrians (around 721 B.C.) or when the kingdom of Judah was defeated and it's people carried away to Babylon (around 587 B.C.). Many books may have been compiled during this time to help the Jews who were removed from their homeland to remember what it was to be Jewish and what events and choices led to their exile. This is similar in some ways to Mormon compiling records for his people as his nation was on the brink of destruction.

One clue for this possible dating of the book of Judges is Judges 18:30 -"...were priests to the tribe of Dan until the day of the captivity of the

Old Testament Seminary Manual

The book of Judges recounts the history of the children of Israel from the time they settled in the land of Canaan after Joshua's death to the birth of Samuel (approximately 1400–1000 B.C.). Besides the short narrative of the book of Ruth, Judges provides the only biblical account of this time period.

The book of Judges describes a cycle that repeated itself multiple times during the reign of the judges. Because the Israelites failed to remove wicked influences from the promised land, they became entangled in sin and were conquered and afflicted by their enemies. After the Israelites cried unto the Lord for help, He sent judges to deliver them from their enemies. However, the Israelites soon returned to their sins, and this cycle was repeated. The book mentions the names of 12 judges who ruled with various degrees of effectiveness.

28 So Joshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.

29 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died, being an hundred and ten years old.

30 And they <sup>a</sup> buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnathserah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill of Gaash.

Judah, Simeon, and Joseph continue to conquer the Canaanites—Remnants of the Canaanites remain in the lands of Judah, Manasseh, Ephraim, Zebulun, Asher, Naphtali, and Dan.

OW after the death of Joshua it came to pass, that the children of Israel asked the LORD, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites first, to fight against them?

2 And the LORD said, Judah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

The River Kishon flows in a northwest direction through the Jezreel Valley until it empties into the Mediterranean Sea near present-day Haifa. Because the land is quite flat, the river is usually not much more than a sluggish stream. In times of unusually hard rains, however, it may overflow its banks and flood the surrounding land, making it marshy and nearly impassable.

The song of Deborah [in Judges 5] seems to suggest that just such an unexpected downpour, accompanied by thunder and lightning, suddenly struck the area. The chariots of Sisera bogged down in the resulting overflow of the Kishon River, making it possible for the smaller forces of Deborah and Barak to achieve victory (Judges 5:4-5, 21). Deborah rightly saw in this event the hand of the Lord and gave Him credit for the victory (Judges 5:30).

2 And the hand of Midian prevailed against Israel: and because of the Midianites the children of Israel made them the dens which are in the mountains, and caves, and strong holds.

3 And so it was, when Israel had sown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the <sup>a</sup>east, even they came up against them;

4 And they encamped against them, and destroyed the <sup>a</sup>increase of the earth, till thou come unto Gaza, and left no sustenance for Israel, neither sheep, nor ox, nor ass.

6 And Israel was greatly impoverished because of the Midianites; and the children of Israel cried unto the LORD.

7 ¶ And it came to pass, when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD because of the Midianites,

8 That the LORD sent a prophet unto the children of Israel, which said unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I brought you up from Egypt, and brought you forth out of the house of bondage;

Gideon's army is reduced to 300—They frighten the Midianite armies with trumpets and lights—The Midianites fight among themselves, flee, and are defeated by Israel.

THEN Jerubbaal, who is Gideon, and all the people that were with him, rose up early, and pitched beside the well of Harod: so that the host of the Midianites were on the north side of them, by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.

2 And the LORD said unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hands, lest Israel vaunt themselves against me, saying, Mine own hand hath saved me.

33 And it came to pass, as soon as Gideon was dead, that the children of Israel turned again, and went a whoring after Baalim, and made Baal-berith their god.

Seminary Old Testament Manual

Today when we speak of someone having the Spirit of the Lord, we are usually referring to someone who is faithful and obedient and therefore close to God. However, as used here, referring to Samson (see Judges 14:6, 19; 15:14), the phrase seems to acknowledge Samson's remarkable physical strength, which came as a gift from God. The scriptures give credit to the Lord, the true source of Samson's gift, by saying "the Spirit of the Lord came mightily upon him," but this does not necessarily mean that the Lord prompted or approved of Samson's actions. Sometimes Samson used his gift of strength properly, and sometimes he did not.

expounded the riddle. And his anger was kindled, and he went up to his father's house.

20 But Samson's wife was given to his companion, whom he had used as his friend.

CHAPTER 15

Samson burns the grain of the Philistines—They burn his wife and father-inlaw—Samson slays a thousand Philistines at Lehi with the jawbone of an ass.

BUT it came to pass within a while after, in the time of wheat harvest, that Samson visited his wife with a kid; and he said, I will go in to my wife into the chamber. But her father would not suffer him to go in.

2 And her father said, I verily thought that thou hadst utterly hated her; therefore I gave her to thy companion: is not her younger sister fairer than she? take her, I pray thee, instead of her.

3 ¶ And Samson said concerning them, Now shall I be more blameless than the Philistines, though I do them a displeasure.

4 And Samson went and caught three hundred foxes, and took firebrands, and turned tail to tail, and put a firebrand in the midst between two tails.

5 And when he had set the brands on fire, he let them go into the standing corn of the Philistines, and <sup>a</sup>burnt up both the shocks, and also the standing <sup>b</sup>corn, with the vineyards and <sup>c</sup>olives.

6 ¶ Then the Philistines said, Who hath done this? And they answered, Samson, the son in law of the Timnite, because he had taken his wife, and given her to his companion. And the Philistines came up, and <sup>a</sup>burnt her and <sup>b</sup>her father with fire.

7 ¶ And Samson said unto them, <sup>a</sup>Though ye have done this, yet will I be avenged of you, and after that I will cease. 8 And he smote them hip and thigh with a great slaughter: and he went down and dwelt in the top of the rock Etam.

9 ¶ Then the Philistines went up, and pitched in Judah, and spread themselves in Lehi.

10 And the men of Judah said, Why are ye come up against us? And they answered, To bind Samson are we come up, to do to him as he hath done to us.

11 Then three thousand men of Judah went to the top of the rock Etam, and said to Samson, Knowest thou not that the Philistines are <sup>a</sup>rulers over us? what is this that thou hast done unto us? And he said unto them, As they did unto me, so have I done unto them.

12 And they said unto him, We are come down to bind thee, that we may deliver thee into the hand of the Philistines. And Samson said unto them, Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me yourselves.

13 And they spake unto him, saying, No; but we will bind thee fast, and deliver thee into their hand: but surely we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him up from the rock.

14 ¶ And when he came unto Lehi, the Philistines shouted against him: and the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that was burnt with fire, and his bands <sup>a</sup>loosed from off his hands.

15 And he found a new jawbone of an ass, and put forth his hand, and took it, and slew a thousand men therewith.

16 And Samson said, With the jawbone of an ass, heaps upon heaps, with the jaw of an ass have I slain a thousand men.

17 And it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking, that he cast away the jawbone out of his hand, and called that place Ramath-lehi. 18 ¶ And he was <sup>a</sup> sore athirst, and called on the LORD, and said, Thou hast given this great deliverance into the hand of thy servant: and now shall I die for thirst, and fall into the hand of the uncircumcised?

19 <sup>a</sup>But God clave an hollow place that was in the jaw, and there came water thereout; and when he had drunk, his spirit came again, and he revived: wherefore he called the name thereof <sup>b</sup>En-hakkore, which is in Lehi unto this day.

20 And he judged Israel in the days of the Philistines twenty years.

Judges 17-21 (The Appendix)

The conclusion to the book of judges is really an appendix consisting of two episodes, neither of which mentions judges. Furthermore, the content of the material is different, dealing with intra-Israelite events, not Israelite tribes oppressed by their neighbors. Given its placement at the end of the book, one naturally assumes the events recounted in this appendix came at the end of the period of the judges, just prior to Samuel and the institution of the monarchy. Indeed, this portion of the book begins and ends with the claim, "in those days there was no king in Israel; but every man did that which was right in his own eyes" (Judges 17:6; 21:25), and contains two even more brief statements to the same effect (Judges 18:1; 19:1).

These episodes and evaluations appear to be pro-monarchy, presenting the case that the lack of a strong national government produced morally and religiously bankrupt conditions in Israel. However, a number of factors suggest that these events actually occurred at the beginning of the period of the judges but were intentionally placed last by the redactors (who lived centuries after this time period) to help demonstrate why so many Israelites favored having a king in the time of Samuel. For example, Phinehas son of Eleazar, son of Aaron, is mentioned as the priest at the Tabernacle in Judges 20:26-28, but in Joshua 24:33 it is reported that Eleazar was buried on his son Phinehas's property. It is not likely that Phinehas was still alive 150 or more years later.
